INTERVIEW: COMPLETE GUIDE TO SELECTION

Preparing for the Interview

The Detailed Application Form (DAF), that needs to be filled up after the Prelims, should be done with utmost caution and honesty, as it is the first step towards a good interview. This form also serves as the basis of preparation for the interview. For instance, a candidate who mentions a family background of ex-serviceman must have knowledge about the defence sector – the reforms required, any current issue related to it and other relevant information. Also, any hobby that is mentioned in the form, graduation subjects, achievements, anything written on the form – the candidate must be thorough with every aspect of it.

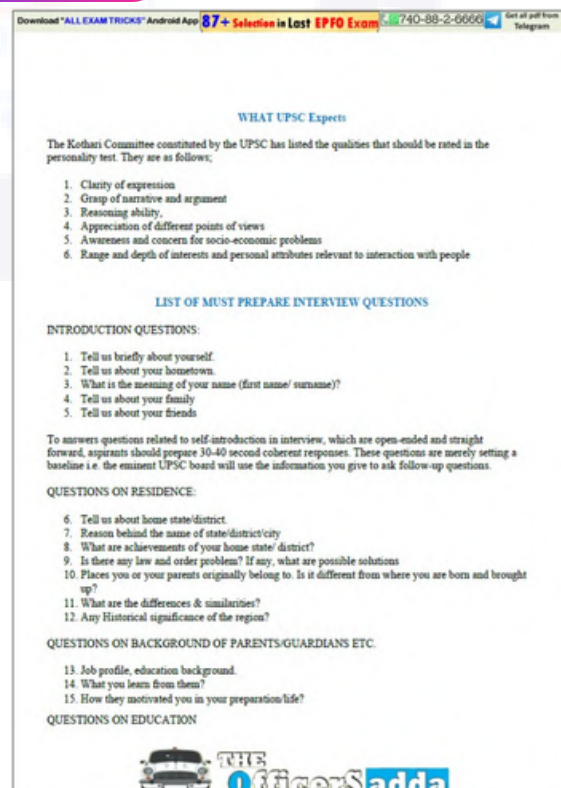

Work on Communication Skills:

It is important that a candidate should have a good command over language and is able to communicate effectively. At times, during interviews, candidates search for words and thus run short of time in expressing themselves. A good way to prepare for interviews is to watch debates and news on television channels.

Interview Booklets:

Mock Interviews:

Just as the test series are important to prepare for the exam; mock interviews serve as a platform for interview preparation. A candidate must attend at least 3 to 4 mock interviews before the final drill, and ensure that all feedback offered by the interview panel has been put to use during the preparation. Along with communication skills, candidates also must project a good overall personality, in terms of a positive body posture, body language and appearance.

HOW TO USE PREVIOUS YEAR PAPERS FOR APFC EXAM PREPARATION?

Reviewing past question papers helps aspirants understand the types of questions asked and identify useful study materials. It also highlights important topics and any patterns in the exams. Breaking the syllabus into sub-topics and revisiting past papers can improve preparation. After completing the syllabus, going through previous papers gives a better idea of the exam's focus.

The four key factors that shall make a positive impact on EPFO preparation are :-

- Professional guidance
- Patience, coupled with a calm and positive attitude
- Determination and hard work
- Methodical study – routine and time-table

Other Questions

- How many workers are covered under EPFO?

As of March 31, 2024, the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) has received contributions for approximately 7.20 crore (72 million) Universal Account Numbers (UANs) under the Employees' Provident Fund (EPF) Scheme. This figure represents the number of active members whose employers have remitted EPF contributions.

- Does EPFO cover workers of only formal sector?

No, EPFO primarily covers employees in the formal sector, including private companies with 20+ employees, PSUs, government organizations, banks, and insurance firms. However, it also extends to certain informal sector workers through voluntary enrollment and government schemes. Small establishments with fewer than 20 employees can opt-in, and discussions are ongoing to include gig workers. Self-employed and informal workers can benefit from schemes like PMSYM. Construction, domestic, and plantation workers in registered establishments may also be covered. However, casual workers, daily wage laborers, most agricultural workers, and self-employed individuals (unless in voluntary schemes) are not covered. EPFO is gradually expanding its reach beyond the formal sector.
